

Where Aspirations Become Accreditations.

School education builds strong academic fundamentals, yet it offers little exposure to financial literacy, professional accounting, investing, or the pathways into global finance careers. Most students meet these ideas for the first time only after choosing a degree — often too late to choose it well.

Ledghere was founded to close that gap. Alongside Class XI & XII studies, students build internationally recognised finance qualifications — gaining a practical, real-world head start that traditional coaching does not provide.
